

Gifts Policy

PURPOSE

This policy explains what the Integrity Commission considers is a 'gift' and the principles to be applied in relation to the offer, acceptance or refusal of gifts and to the giving of gifts. It also sets out the boundaries for applying the policy and who it applies to.

SCOPE

This policy applies the Board and all Commission employees, inclusive of authorised persons, members of or assisting an Integrity Tribunal and contractors.

Employment Direction No 8 – Gifts and Benefits applies.

In the case of State Servants, non-compliance with this policy is likely to constitute misconduct and may be dealt with under Employment Direction No 5. It may also result in prosecution under the Criminal Code.

The policy is underpinned by the Commission's core values of respect, accountability, professionalism, collaboration and trust.

What is and what is not a 'gift' is explained in Attachment 1.

POLICY STATEMENT

The Commission's responsibility as an integrity organisation is to work to improve the standard of conduct, propriety and ethics in Tasmania's public sector.

The Commission considers that the offer and acceptance of gifts (including any personal benefit) creates a conflict of interest between private interests and public duty, and therefore poses a risk to the Commission's perceived and actual independence, integrity and public reputation.

1. In relation to the receiving of gifts, staff must:

- never solicit a gift in the course of their duties, for either personal benefit or for the benefit of anybody else

- decline any money or money equivalent gifts, drugs or illegally obtained property which is offered to them. In such circumstances the Commission also directs staff to immediately declare the offer and report it to the CEO
  - decline prizes won at a work event
  - never voluntarily enter into competitions or prize draws in the course of their work
  - communicate this policy to the organiser of any event where they have been asked to speak or present. An example communication is Attachment 2, and
  - declare every accepted gift on the approved gift declaration form.
2. Staff may accept without declaring, a token memento or modest refreshment if it is not regularly occurring.
  3. All gifts received will be immediately recorded in the Commission’s Gifts & Benefits Register. The register is to be published on the Commission’s website, and updated by 31 January and 31 July each year.
  4. If a gift has been accepted or staff are to accept regularly occurring token mementos or modest refreshments worth more than $50 from one supplier in a 12 month period, the gifts must be declared.
  5. Accepted gifts are the property of the Commission until decided otherwise.
  6. The Commission expects that acceptance of a gift beyond a token memento or modest refreshment will be a very rare occurrence. However, if staff feel that significant offence or embarrassment will result from declining the offer of the gift, the gift may be accepted. If this occurs, the gift must be immediately declared.
  7. Any gift to be offered by the Commission as part of its business functions must receive prior approval of the CEO. The gift must be recorded in the Commission’s Gifts & Benefits register.

RESPONSIBILITIES

CEO

- Provide guidance to staff.
- Report the offer of money or money equivalent gifts, drugs or illegally obtained property to Tasmania Police if necessary.
- Ensure that the Commission’s annual audit and risk management process includes a review of compliance with this policy and that findings are reported to the Board.

Directors

- Ensure that their staff understand the implications of acceptance of gifts and put in place processes that support this Policy.

WHAT IS A GIFT?

In considering an offer and acceptance of gifts, the central considerations should be:

- what is the intent of the offer? and
- what would an impartial observer think?

In summary, staff should not expect to receive a gift for doing a job they are paid by the public to do. In most situations 'thanks is enough'.

Definitions

Gift means any hospitality, gratuity, favour, discount, entertainment, loan, forbearance, or other benefit having monetary or other personal value gained by a person in the course of or in relation to their duties at the Integrity Commission (Commission), from any person or entity other than the Commission. It includes, but is not limited to:

- a gift of money or money equivalent
- a gift of a physical object
- the conferring of a benefit (of monetary or other personal value)
- the conferring of an honorary degree, title or award
- a purchasing incentive, such as a gift of goods and/or services with purchase, other promotional reward, discount or loyalty points offered generally to any public purchaser or to a broadly defined class of purchasers of a particular good or service, a redemption or frequent buyer card, which is received in relation to the purchase of a particular good or service for the Commission
- indirect or concealed gifts such as:
  - the permanent or indefinite loan of money or property
  - the sale or transfer of property at less than full value
  - the provision of a benefit which has a financial or commercial value for less than full value, or
  - meals, drinks and other hospitality;
- sponsored travel e.g. accommodation, airfares, taxi fares, vehicle hire
- education or training not offered or paid for in full by the Commission or the individual eg an external conference or seminar ticket, externally hosted training course, or completion or award of an external qualification, or
- entertainment eg tickets to arts/sporting/recreational events, for less than full value.

A gift does not include:

- a token memento received as part of business functions.

- an item or hospitality provided by the Commission to celebrate a significant staff milestone or achievement
- an event hosted by the State which you attend at the State’s cost, or
- an item given or received between Commission staff members eg on a staff birthday, provided it does not create an actual, potential or perceived conflict of interest with respect to internal decision-making.

A token memento is an item of little intrinsic value, such as a greeting card or confectionery. Token mementoes are commercially valued at less than $20.

A modest refreshment is food or other refreshment such as catering for a training course or other normal work interactions, typically of less than $20 value. It may include light meals provided during workshops, training sessions or other events where staff are invited presenters (but only where attendees are not paying for the event or meal).

Regularly occurring means the acceptance of token mementos or modest refreshments from a single supplier which in total are valued at $50 or higher in a 12 month period.

Government buyer is anyone to whom this Policy applies who acquires goods and/or services for the Commission.

Money or money equivalent includes cash, financial instruments, shares, units, gift cards/vouchers, discount coupons, loyalty bonus points that may be redeemed for a cash or non-cash personal reward, lottery tickets, ‘scratchies’, credit cards, debit cards with credit on them, memberships, prepayments such as phone or internal credit, and any item that may be readily converted to cash.

Sponsored travel includes the provision of transport, accommodation or living expenses to anyone to whom this Policy applies, other than from the Commission’s funds or the person’s own resources.

STANDARD COMMUNICATION TO EVENT ORGANISERS

As is our standard practice, I am letting you know in advance that our staff adhere to a policy of not accepting gifts or benefits in our work. We look forward to assisting your [agency/organisation] and a simple 'Thanks' is enough if you wish to express appreciation for our work. If your [organisation/agency] would like to express further appreciation, you are welcome to send a message to contact@integrity.tas.gov.au.
